Description

At lengoo, we power the future of translation. We provide a serviced marketplace for expert translations that unites skillful human creativity with the precision of AI. We train individual Neural Translation Networks for our customers. By deploying them, we achieve significant advantages in terms of translation quality and speed. This means significant lower costs for our customers. Since 2012, our translation platform has empowered over 2,500 SMEs and enterprises from 10 countries to break language barriers and to easily tap into international markets with high-quality translations in more than 400 language pairs.
